A brief description of the analyses included in this publication:

Client Group Analysis (Families with Children) combines data collected for Jobseeker's Allowance, Income Support, Disability Living Allowance, Incapacity Benefit and Severe Disablement Allowance on children/young adult dependants for whom additional benefit is payable.

Client Group Analysis (Working Age) combines data collected for Jobseeker's Allowance, Incapacity Benefit, Severe Disablement Allowance, Disability Living Allowance and Income Support.

Client Group Analysis (Over State Pension Age) combines data for Attendance Allowance, Disability Living Allowance, Incapacity Benefit, Income Support, State Pension and Severe Disablement Allowance.

Income Support (IS) was introduced on April 11th, 1988 and is an income related benefit that can be claimed by people normally aged 18 or over that work less than 16 hours a week and have insufficient income to meet their needs. Additional help is available for partners and children of claimants.

Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA) was introduced on October 7th, 1996 and replaced Unemployment Benefit and Income Support for unemployed people. JSA is a contributory or income related benefit paid to people under Retirement Pension age who are available for and actively seeking employment, including those in work for less than 16 hours a week on average, and by people on a Government training scheme.

Incapacity Benefit (IB) was introduced on April 13th, 1995 and is paid to people who are incapable of work and who have paid sufficient contributions throughout their working life.

Attendance Allowance (AA) was introduced on December 6th, 1971 and is a benefit for people over the age of 65 who are so severely disabled, physically or mentally, that they need a great deal of help with personal care or supervision. This assistance could be required during the day and/or at night. Those requiring constant help receive the higher rate of benefit.

Disability Living Allowance (DLA) was introduced on April 1st, 1992 and is a benefit for people who have become disabled before the age of 65 and who need assistance with personal care or mobility.

Carer's Allowance (formerly Invalid Care Allowance) was introduced on July 5th, 1976, it is paid to someone who looks after a severely disabled person for at least 35 hours a week. The severely disabled person must be getting either higher or middle rate DLA care component or AA or constant AA at the maximum rate under War Pensions or Industrial Injuries Scheme.

Housing Benefit (HB) was introduced on April 1st, 1983 and is an income related benefit, designed to help people on low incomes pay for rented accommodation whether in or out of work.

Child Benefit (ChB) was introduced on April 5th, 1977 and is a benefit paid for all children up to the age of sixteen (or nineteen if in full time education up to A-level or equivalent standard). A higher rate of child benefit is payable for the first child. Certain lone parents with preserved rights may remain eligible for Child Benefit (Lone Parent). This benefit is administered by Inland Revenue details available from <http://www.inlandrevenue.gov.uk/childbenefit/index.htm>

Retirement Pension (RP) was introduced on January 1st, 1909 and is paid to people who have reached the retired pension age (65 for men, 60 for women) and who fulfil the residency and contributions conditions.

Widow's Benefit was introduced on July 6th, 1948 and is payable to women on or after 11 April 1988 and up to and including 8 April 2001. There are three types of widow's benefits: Widow's Payment, Widowed Mother's Allowance and Widow's Pension. Women widowed before 11 April 1988 continue to receive Widow's Benefit based on the rules that existed before that date.

Bereavement Benefit was introduced on April 9th, 2001 as a replacement to Widow's Benefit, payable to both men and women widowed on or after 9 April 2001. There are three types of Bereavement Benefits available: Bereavement Payment, Widowed Parent's Allowance and Bereavement Allowance.

Child Tax Credit (CTC) and Working Tax Credit (WTC) replaced Working Families' Tax Credit, Disabled Person's Tax Credit and Children's Tax Credit in April 2003. CTC is available to families with children up to 16, or up to 19 and in full-time non-advanced education. WTC is available to people working for at least 16 hours a week if they have children, or have an illness or disability which puts them at a disadvantage in getting a job. Certain other adults also qualify - for example, if they are aged at least 25 and work for at least 30 hours a week. These Personal Tax Credits are administered by the Inland Revenue, details available from <http://www.inlandrevenue.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/menu.htm>
